YOUR PROBLEMS

"Important Thing He Did Invite You"

Dear Ann Landers: My husband is a great kiddier. Some people think he has a terrific sense of humor. Sometimes I think he goes too far.

Last week he invited me along on a business trip. At the airport we ran into some friends. One of the men in the group shouted to my husband "I see you are taking Molly along." My husband yelled loud enough in the airport for everyone in the airport to hear "Yes, I'd rather take her along than kiss her goodbye."

I felt like walking into the propeller. For three hours I didn't speak one word to him. He said I was a lousy sport. What do you say?—MOLLY.

Dear Molly: Your husband used very poor taste — and a very tired joke. But once the words were out of his mouth, you should have laughed it off and put it out of your mind. The important thing is he DID invite you along. This is what counts.

Dear Ann Landers: Dad and I want you to settle something. I'm 18 and my steady boy friend, Ron, is 20. Ron has invited me to go hunting with him. I'd love to but Dad says no.

Mom is dead and Dad works the night shift so I'm pretty much on my own. Ron and I have been in the house alone many times and we've always behaved ourselves. So we aren't looking for a chance to be unchaperoned.

Ron has been handling a rifle since he was nine so there's no danger of anyone getting shot. I want to go hunting with Ron for only one reason — to share the pleasure of his favorite sport. I've given you all the details. Now, please say yes.—ELIZABETH

Dear Elizabeth: You omitted the most important detail. Is this an overnight hunting trip?

If it's a daylighter I say yes. If it means a night in the woods, invite your dad and make it a gleesome threesome. I can't O.K. a cosmo twosome.

Dear Ann Landers: My problem is a mother-in-law who is always "surprising" me with clothing which I am unable to use. Her taste is abominable. She buys dresses, handbags, scarfs, hats, and assorted junk at bargain-base sales because she thinks she's saving money. Of course nothing can be exchanged.

My mother-in-law is very kind-hearted but she works

Fellowship Recipients Will Speak

Manhattan Beach Branch of the American Association of University Women will hear two fellowship recipients at its Jan. 8 meeting at the Community Church, 303 Peck Ave., Manhattan Beach, beginning at 8 p.m.

The two Fellows are Dr. Katherine Schaeffer Jizba, a geologist, and Miss Suharni Hadikusumo, a teacher. Both will speak on the use they are making of their fellowships.

Dr. Jizba is studying fossil spores and pollen and their application to petroleum exploration. She was graduated from Washington University, St. Louis, in 1956 and received her master's degree in geology in 1958. She earned the Ph.D. as a National Science Foundation Fellow in 1960, and did further doctoral investigation as a Margaret E. Mallby Fellow in 1961.

A current Fellow is Miss Hadikusumo, the first scholar from Indonesia ever to be awarded an AAUW international fellowship. She is studying idiomatic English and daily phrases and methods of teaching English as a second language at UCLA. Miss Hadikusumo plans to return to her country to teach English and help interpret the United States to her people.

She earned her AB degree from Gadjah Wada University in Jogjakarta. After graduation she taught at the Governmental Senior High School at Solo. Several other members of Miss Hadikusumo's family are also trained teachers.

Open House Honors Couple On 25th Wedding Anniversary Dec. 24

Mr. and Mrs. Fay L. Parks, 2530 Eldorado, long-time residents of Torrance, were honored at a beautiful open house on Christmas Eve from 2 until 5 p.m. in celebration of their 25th wedding anniversary. The party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Parke Montague, 1328 Beech, who served as hosts with Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Parks, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. Montague, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Montague of San Fernando.

Mr. and Mrs. Parks were married Dec. 24, 1936, in Tonopah, Nevada. Mrs. Parks' former home.

Mrs. Parks came to Torrance in 1929. Mr. Parks came here in 1917 and operated the Torrance Plumbing Co. until his retirement four years ago. Mrs. Parks had worked as bookkeeper for her husband's firm since 1931.

The couple are members of the Torrance Breakfast Club. Mr. Parks is a past patron of the Torrance chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, is a member of the Torrance Masonic Lodge and Al Malakah Shrine chapter in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Parks is a past matron of the Turquoise Eastern Star chapter in Tonopah, Nev. She is also a member of the Arts and Crafts club and the Maub Ives chapter of the Jesterettes. Both Mr. and Mrs. Parks are members of the St. Andrew's Episcopal Church here.

For the anniversary party, the Montague home was effectively decorated in the silver and white theme, enhanced with the Christmas evergreens.

At a ceremony in the gardens, Rev. Hugh Percy, pastor of St. Andrew's church, blessed the wedding.

A tiered silver and white anniversary cake centered the table. Another table was decorated with a silver and white money tree ornament.

ed with net hearts and silver bows, a gift from the Breakfast club. The couple also received a silver money tree from the Arts and Crafts club.

Presiding at the guest book were the honored couple's two granddaughters, Misses Ann and Patty Montague.

Other special guests at the party were grandsons of Mr. and Mrs. Parks, Jim and Ralph Montague, Jr., both of Fort Ord, and Chuck and Art Montague.

Hot and cold hors d'ouvres were served with cake, punch and coffee throughout the receiving hours.
